Russell C. Johnson Resigns at College

Director of Athletics Ends Services Here November 15

Russell C. Johnson, Director of Athletics and Manager of Properties at Ursinus College, has resigned his college connections after having been actively identified with the school since 1930. After the war curtailed the athletic program Johnson accepted the duties as Manager of Properties. The resignation is effective on November 15.

Johnson was graduated from Ursinus College in 1916 and immediately went into big league baseball where he was a starring pitcher on the Philadelphia Athletics and the Baltimore and other big-time clubs.

Following his active playing days "Jing" began coaching duties by handling the Bucknell university baseball team in 1922. From 1924 to 1927 he was the baseball coach at Lehigh university. In 1930 he came to Ursinus College as the director of athletics and head coach of baseball. He produced many winning combinations for the College and distinguished himself with his colleagues in the collegiate athletic circles.

Johnson's record as baseball coach here was unequalled in any other sport during the period in which he served. His diamond squads won 56 and lost 63 during the period.

"Jing" was one of the leading spirits in the organization of the Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Basketball league and baseball league of the same name. He was also instrumental in the formation of the Middle Atlantic Football and Wrestling associations. In this connection he served as Secretary-Treasurer of the football association since its inception, resigning just last year to accept the presidency. All of these leagues and associations were formed to promote better intercollegiate relations.

He is a past president of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference — a post in which he served two years. At present he is also Secretary of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic conference.

At Ursinus Johnson was instrumental in the formation of the

New Supply Store Has P. O., Soda Fountain

Although the carpenters have delayed their work on the new supply store because of the necessary repairs on the dormitories, they expect to complete the addition in another month.

The Post Office, which is a distributing center for all college mail, will be separated from the other part of the store, and entrance to it will be made through a different door. A special time of day will be designated to claim parcel post and other packages. However, stamps will be sold in the regular section of the store.

Among the new attractions is the soda fountain which will be open during the day as well as nights. Coffee, sodas, sundaes, and the usual assortment of cookies and crackers will be sold. Although there are tables and chairs and built-in benches, the students must purchase the food at the fountain and take it to the tables. No provision for a juke box has been made.

After the management has recovered from the rushing business of the fall term, they will use the shelves which now contain notebooks, paper, pencils, and other articles for a display case only. The bottom shelves will be enclosed by swinging doors and used for these articles. The second loft will serve as a storage place.

Physical education uniforms and laboratory coats are included in the new list of items which the store will handle. The temporary store hours are as follows: 9:00 to 12:00 a. m., 12:30 to 6:00 p. m., and 7:00 to 10:00 p. m. The store will not be open on Saturday afternoon or Sunday.

COLLEGE THESPIANS IN DRESS REHEARSAL

Ethel Anderson '45, Barbara Cooke '44, Seymour Berman V-12, and David Brashear V-12, play prominent roles in Arsenic and Old Lace.

ORGANIZATION HEADS MEET TOMORROW NIGHT AT 7:30

A meeting of the presidents of the various student organizations, together with the Faculty committee on student activities, will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in room 5 of Bomberger hall.

The presidents of the student organizations are requested to consult their faculty advisers and come to the meeting prepared to outline their plans for the year.

Ruby Will Come Out If Students Subscribe

Continuing for two weeks, the Ruby subscription campaign which started last Wednesday is now under way.

A down payment of $1.50 which must be paid during the campaign will reserve a copy of the 1944 Ruby. As yet the full price is undetermined.

Although this year's Ruby is limited financially and will not be as elaborate as previous yearbooks, it will constitute a remembrance of Ursinus. Pictures of the senior class, campus organizations, athletics, and Navy platoons will be included. The yearbook will not be dependent upon advertisements but upon subscription funds. Mary Hogg '44, editor of the Ruby depends upon the students' cooperation in subscribing for it.

Representatives have been appointed in each dormitory to take subscriptions. Navy men wishing to subscribe should give their money to Emma Jane Thomas '44, Business manager at South hall, Mary Hogg at Fircroft hall, or one of the dorm representatives before Wednesday, November 17.

If this subscription campaign is not successful, down payments will be returned and there will be no Ruby. Only those subscribing now will receive books in the spring.

DR. GARRETT JOINS FACULTY

Dr. Helen Garret has been added to the faculty of our Language department to instruct in French and Spanish.

Dr. Garret took her Ph.D. at the University of Pennsylvania and has had ten years of teaching experience. She has taught in the Scranton-Keystone Junior college and the Altoona Center of Penn State. Her home is in Elkins Park, Pa.

SENIORS ELECT MARSHALL

Last Thursday, the seniors met to elect James Marshall as their president and Jessanne Ross to the office of treasurer. Julia Ludwick and Emma Jane Thomas will keep their positions as vice-president and secretary respectively.

Curtain Club To Open Dramatic Season With Thriller, Arsenic and Old Lace

Thrills and chills will predominate in the Thompson-Gay gymnasium on Friday and Saturday nights as the Curtain club presents the Broadway hit, Arsenic and Old Lace.

Faint-hearted persons planning to attend one of the performances are advised to bring along their smelling salts for use when the kindly old Brewster sisters serve their famous elderberry wine, then bury the corpse in their cellar along with their other victims; and when the sinister maniac, Jonathan Brewster, resembling Boris Karloff, appears on the scene and tries to dominate the Brewster household for his ulterior motives. His accomplice, Doctor Einstein, adds atmosphere. Since no play is complete without romance, Mortimer Brewster, a nephew of the old ladies, and Elaine Harper, the girl next door, furnish the love interest.

Cast Listed

Embryo actors and actresses seen absent-mindedly wandering about muttering their lines are: Ethel Anderson, who plays Abby Brewster; Barbara Cooke, Martha Brewster; John Ziegler, Teddy Brewster; David Brashear, Jonathan Brewster; Edward Smith, Mortimer Brewster; Marilyn Smythe, Elaine Harper; Seymour Berman, Doctor Einstein; Richard Hunter, the Rev. Dr. Harper; Dan Williams, Officer Brophy; John Trevaskis, Officer Klein; Richard Johnson, Mr. Gibbs; Milton Marion, Officer O'Hara; Fred Carney, Lieutenant Rooney; and Reed Hankwitz, Mr. Witherspoon.

All civilian and Navy V-12 students are urged to attend on Friday night when they will be admitted free of charge.

Frances Tisdale heads the properties and wardrobe committee.

URSINUS FORUM SPEAKER

MISS SIGRID SCHULTZ

Forum To Present Miss Sigrid Schultz Wednesday Night

Radio Commentator To Speak On They'll Do It Again

Sigrid Schultz, famous foreign correspondent and radio commentator, will speak in Bomberger hall on Wednesday at 8:00 p. m. on They'll Try It Again, the first in a series of educational discussions to be sponsored this year by the Ursinus College forum.

Miss Schultz was born in Chicago and received her early education in that city. Later when her father, an internationally famous American artist of Norwegian descent, was commissioned to paint the portrait of the King of Wuertemberg, he took his family with him to Europe. There were a few school months in Germany, but most of her instruction was in Paris in private schools and later at the Sorbonne, which explains the linguistic ability so much envied by her colleagues. After the Sorbonne, she went to the University of Berlin.

Lived In Berlin

The outbreak of World War I found the family in Berlin and her mother's illness made it impossible for them to leave. She remained in Germany throughout World War I and so after the Armistice found a position as interpreter and assistant to Richard Henry Little of the Chicago Daily Tribune. In 1925 she succeeded to the position of Director of the Chicago Daily Tribune's Central European Bureau in Berlin, where she remained for sixteen years. While home on leave, Miss Schultz developed a case of spotted war typhus which fortunately prevented her from returning to Germany before America's entry into the war.

As the only woman head of a large news staff in Europe, Miss Schultz held one of the most dangerous as well as most important news jobs in the world.

Knew German Leaders

She knew Goering, Goebbels, Himmler, even Hitler himself from the beginning of their rise to power. She saw the end of the Hohenzollern regime, observed the birth and death of the Weimer Republic, the rise and sweep of the Nazi power over most of Europe. During the twenty years' interval between wars, she knew every one of importance in Central Europe and covered many historic events.

On leave now from the Tribune, Miss Schultz is writing a new book, They'll Try It Again, to be published soon, and is lecturing all over the country to audiences eager to hear her forthright observations as to the Nazis and their threat to our concept of civilization and the dignity of the human being.

WOMEN'S CLUB SPONSORS VALLEY FORGE SONGMEN

Twenty-three tenors and bases, the Valley Forge Songmen, presented a musical program Thursday night in Bomberger under the sponsorship of the Ursinus Women's club.

They sang twelve selections, including The Lost Chord and Prelude in C Sharp Minor. Two piano and two violin solos were also on the program.

FORMER WEEKLY EDITOR ENGAGED TO VERA BOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bock announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Vera Bock, to Ensign J. William Ditter '43, at a tea at their home in Collegeville on Saturday afternoon.

Ditter, who received his commission on October 27, was editor of The Weekly, president of the Cub and Key honor society, president of the Men's Debating club, a member of the Curtain club, Sigma Rho fraternity, and the soccer team.

Miss Bock, former secretary to the President of the College, is now attending Mary Washington college in Virginia.

NOTICES!

Any alumni or friends of the College wishing to subscribe to The Weekly should remit $1.50 to Lou George, circulation manager.

Weekly staff members and all freshmen trying out will meet Tuesday evening, immediately after dinner in Room 8, of Bomberger hall.

Exchange news papers are placed each week in the library. Students who want to read news from other colleges should consult the exchange shelf behind the main desk.

BOUQUETS IN NOVEMBER

November may not be the season for flowers, but coming back to the Ursinus campus puts an editor in the mood for throwing bouquets. In many ways, the College is a new place—and we who were not here during the summer semester admit that we felt a little strange for several days—but it is a better one.

In the dining room, it was good to see the girls stepping into the jobs of the waiters. And these girls should receive the first bouquets for the work they are doing so well. We not only receive efficient service at the tables, but we are no longer hurried through our meals and pushed out of Freeland in ten minutes flat. And while we're in the dining room, let's toss a flower or two in the direction of the kitchen. It's nice to see one dish coming in and still not know what the rest of the menu will be. Especially on Sunday evening!

An orchid for the new Day Study—and the girls' dorms. Now that the women athletes have lost their Thompson-Gay home, the Day Study is a place where they can be proud to entertain rivals from other colleges. Although Duhring and Hobson do not have all the comforts of the older halls, the girls are patient and willing to put up with a few inconveniences. Most gripes about these halls not being ready seem to come from the non-residents. The new supply store was another gift we didn't expect this Christmas.

Did we hear something about the Navy men not having the same old Ursinus spirit as we have? Perhaps it's a new and better spirit. At any rate, the Navy turn-out at the Chestnut Hill hockey game would have been an inspiration to any team. As for their participation in activities—look at the V-12 names on the Weekly staff, look at the sailors in the play this weekend, and we need not even mention their representation on our athletic teams. Ursinus has a right to boast of their Navy unit.

LET'S HAVE A RUBY

The College is not supporting it financially. Advertisers are not supporting it. But the class of '44 wants a Ruby, and will not be discouraged. If Ursinus wants a yearbook, the students must show the seniors by their support through subscription during the next week and a half. We've always had a Ruby. Let's have one now.

GET READY! GET SET! GO!

It is almost winter. Leaves are falling on the campus and shadows begin to lengthen early. Ahead of us lies another college year full of hard work and fun.

To those of us who have arrived for the first time, as well as those who have returned for another term, college will give you what you put into it. Good grades are essential, but they, by no means, constitute a college education. College life can be full and pleasant. It can give you almost anything you've ever hoped for—poise, leadership, experience, and fun, to mention a few things. It can give you wisdom through use of the knowledge which you already possess.

A few wide-awake students seem to be involved in everything. They are the most popular, dependable people on Campus. The remainder of the students sit back and fold their hands. No matter how much knowledge a person possesses, he may be as dull as dishwater if he doesn't have social contact. Let's Go!

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

Back again after a long hibernation, the old Grizzly is Gaffin' again with his little bit of "cubcity."

Ladies' Man

Big John Trevaskis seems to have appropriated a certain room in the gym for his private chambers, where he can listen to the radio. Well, girls, you can still have Miss Snell's office.

Temptation

We wonder if Ed Smith will bow to his director or go through with that punch line on Friday night.

The Band Played On

Wonder if the Highlanders will have their band ready for the Senior Prom. Preceptress Swartley is all fagged out trying to hold them down. (But we understand the band played on when she flashed the diamond one Saturday night.)

Well, Al—(B) Right!

Jim Marshall had quite a time at Pendle Hill over the weekend.

Going My Way?

Ursinus women must be slipping when three Navy boys go folk dancing with Eagleville girls.

No House Pets

Those adopted kittens, Snoopy and Spooky, lost their popularity after spending a few nights in the dormitory. No wonder no one wanted to feed them!

Nance Fessler and Wee Whisk Harting can't understand cats either.

Mice or Men?

Just what was little Mid doing standing in the middle of her bed last week, waving her hockey stick furiously? It couldn't have been a mouse, could it, Mid?

Sophs Get Busy

Freshman girls have been glamorous long enough now. The delayed "equipment" should be here any day. Juniors will be disappointed to hear that crashing and heckling soph rules meetings will not be necessary—ye most noble and high Winnie Clark says guests will always be welcomed.

Bound South

Ursinus double feature, T. and J. Rorer, have been transferred to Portsmouth, Va. And just when we were learning to know which was who.

Bugle Girl

The newest form of reveille is being enacted by Mrs. Ely every night at 10:15. She gets a big bounce out of setting an alarm clock in the parlor to warn George Moore that it's time to "hit the road" in order to be in at the Navy deadline.

Wine and Women

Dick Schellhase laid his cards on the table in public speaking class when he spoke on why I came to college.

Webster?

Itches, according to a sign in one dormitory, is what, when a sailor stands in line at attention, his nose always.

Women Drop Torch And Pick Up Tray

by Irene Sufas '46

Toting a torch is nothing new to women. Even "our favorite blonde," the Statue of Liberty, carries one—and proudly, too! But it was a new era for Ursinus students when—the weaker sex dropped the torch and picked up a tray.

And it was a sad day, too, for the crushed and crumbling civilians of Curtis fame. With the old cry of women "rushing in where angels fear to tread," Curtis is making its last stand against the female mass movement to settle, once and for all, the "battle of the sexes." But, angels or not, the gals are right in there tossing around those dishes like the best of Price's veterans.

Not to be outdone by their male predecessors, the hale 'n hearty Pathfinders "blaze a trail through the crowded aisles, teeming with hordes of hungry students, with two-ton-trays—and we even spied Courtenay Richardson doing the job one-handed. Meanwhile, Head Waiter Dick Clover gawked at Court and wondered where it would all end, when a loud crash put an end to that 64-dollar question.

Freshmen Predominate

Predominating in this pioneer group of femme tray toters are freshmen, and those lil' aprons they wear would satisfy the cruel heart of any Soph Rules committee. What I'd like to ask anyone who'd care to listen is why can't they confiscate the last sacred remains of the veterans of the "Price's Wars"—the white coats.

Some of the busboys are really the answer to any waitress' prayers, but others walk around as if they'd just come back from one of Coach Stevens' gruelling Navy p. t. sessions.

But to get back to the women, who, slowly but surely, keep the assembly line moving toward our stomachs, it's hats off from us thankful students! That includes "Deanie" Sinclair who is doing the honors at the preceptress' table; "Matsy" Jaiindl at Dean Kline's service; and "Tess" Umstad who keeps the gold-braid happy and fed; and all the other waitresses who are breaking campus tradition.

We are especially fond of that waitress with the sense of humor. She never fails to bring the catsup and laughingly warn, "Here you are; drown your sorrows."

Meanwhile, students, if the food is late and you're drooling, just remember that "they also serve who only stand and wait."

THE MAIL BOX

To the Editor:

With the coming of fall — and rain, the grounds on campus have become very soft. Cutting campus is beginning to leave its mark, and now, of all times, the grass is so easily ruined by continual cutting of the front campus, and making use of the shortest distance between two points.

For those students who are new to Ursinus, we have had a tradition concerning the East campus. For years, the student body just would not think of walking on East campus, which includes the grass from the path in front of Bomberger to the driveway beyond the library.

This past summer, with the coming of the Navy and numerous changes, Ursinus suddenly decided that there was no need to keep that tradition. I realize that the Navy may use it for drills; that is another matter. The thing I am urging is that we remember that tradition. East campus wasn't used in the past; why should we use it now?

Paths on front campus are well known for their inconvenience. But we also want our campus well known for its beauty. Walking across the grass is hardly going to save more than one minute in a dash to class.

Let's take the longer way around — and keep the campus free from added pathways.

Sincerely,

Betty Kirlin '44

Edward W. Zetty '42, is at C.P.S. No. 111, Mancas, Colorado.

Ensign Nevin Wanner '43, is stationed in Berkley, California, studying Diesel engineering.

YW - YMCA News

To climax the second week of the Winter semester, the Y Social committee, headed by Betty Jane Cassatt and Cal Garber sponsored a 7:30 to 9:00 p. m. dance in the gym. Cal Garber and Peg Hudson led the crowd in novelty dances and the colored spot-lights added a new feature. Plans of the Student Activities committee have not yet been announced, but it is probable that the Wednesday evening affairs will continue as they have all summer.

Rec center is open again! With Emily Terrill's social service committee still looking for volunteers to work there, the schedule announces that Monday, Tuesday, and Friday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. and Thursday from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. will be the hours. As schedules become more settled, the game room in Bomberger's basement may be open even longer for all students.

Y SUPPORTS CARMEN AGAIN

The Social Service committee is again supporting a little Spanish girl refugee in England. Under the Foster Parent Plan for War Children, the Ursinus Y each month contributes fifteen dollars. A representative in each girls' dorm collects contributions and there is a box in Rec center for Navy and civilian men to send their pennies to little Carmen.

Weekends from Saturday noon until Sunday evenings find girls from the Y serving at the River Crest Preventorium near Phoenixville. Judy Ludwick, Ann McDaniel, Connie Johnson, Dorothy Waltz, and Virginia Boyer have each reported on the interesting time they had while relieving the sisters from the Lutheran church who are in charge of the young children in the home. They urge others to take advantage of this opportunity.

B. J. CASSATT ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Betty Jane Cassatt attended a meeting of the Conference Planning committee of the Regional assembly of the Student Christian movement at the University of Pennsylvania on Sunday, October 31. At this meeting, plans were made for the various conferences to be held this fall and for the annual spring meeting at Kanestake, to which the Ursinus Y sends representatives.

Miss Marjorie Hyer, a member of the Friends' Service committee, spoke on Post-War reconstruction last Monday evening at the Sheeders' home. Stressing the need for racial tolerance, Miss Hyer led an interesting discussion among about twenty students. She also announced an Institute of College-Age Youth on Reconstruction at Home and Abroad at Pendle Hill, which Peg Singley, Cal Garber, Betsey Claves, James Marshall, Fred Carney, and Betty Jane Cassatt all attended this past week-end. This conference also was under the auspices of the Peace Section of the American Friends Service committee.

SOCIETY NOTES

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Frosh have announced the birth of a daughter, Susanne Barbara, October 4 at Trenton Hospital. Mrs. Frosh is the former Dorothy Chambers '39.

Mr and Mrs Grant C. Swartley of Willow Grove, Pa., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Carol Swartley '43, to Franklyn D. Miller '42. Miss Swartley is teaching at Collegeville-Trappe high school and is acting as preceptress at Highland hall. Mr. Miller is doing graduate work and instructing at the University of Pennsylvania.

Omega Chi sorority will have a get-together meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. William S. Pettit. Mrs. Maurice Bone will attend.

Clamer hall had a Halloween dance in their basement last Saturday evening.

Dorothy Ohlemeyer '45, of Collingswood, New Jersey, announced her engagement to Arno Henderson, Ph.M. 2/c, USN, on October 28.

The girls' Day Study will hold their freshman initiation tonight. Margaret Richter '46, is in charge.

Dorothy Warren, ex-'46, was married to Joseph Durham, ex-'46, in July in Maryland.

The girls of Fircroft held a party at their dorm on Friday, November 6.

Glenwood hall will have their hall initiation on Tuesday evening.

Tau Sigma Gamma sorority had a Halloween party in the basement of the Trinity Reformed church last Friday evening. Mrs. George Hartzell attended.

South hall's freshman initiation is scheduled for Thursday, November 18. Ethel Anderson '45, will have charge of putting the newcomers through their paces.

Looking 'Em Over

By YANK

There is a bright ray of sunshine ahead regarding the future of men's intercollegiate athletics, and so many have asked just what is going to happen that it seems only human to disperse the dark clouds for a while and scatter a little of the sunshine.

Unless the Axis suddenly bombs the gym, boys basketball this year is almost a certainty. We were assured of that in President McClure's welcome speech this semester and further investigation reveals the following picture:

1) Lt. Minor has consented to coach the squad. This eliminates the biggest problem.

2) There is ample material lurking in the Navy dorms and in Curtis, which puts to rest the theory that Ursinus couldn't field five men for the team.

3) There is a stack of letters just itching to be answered which would provide the Bears with as many games as they chose to play.

4) The chief source of worry seems to be when the boys can use the gym for practice. What with Navy p. t., girls sports, and Arsenic and Old Lace, it is about bulging at the seams. However, it ought to be just a matter of time before Mr. Bailey works out a schedule which will include basketball too. Another rather meticulous but minor item is to stay in our own class when we schedule the games. These wrinkles should be ironed out before too many more weeks go by, so stand by for that first "report for practice" notice.

Along the same line of thought comes the pleas of the civilians who feel they aren't varsity material but would like to play a little basketball. The crowded gym again is the delay in the formation of an intra-mural league such as we had last year. My advice is to "keep your shirt on" and maybe lightning will strike twice.

Miss Snell has given all the indications of "doing it again." The hockey squad looks plenty powerful. Rolling up 18 points while shutting out your opponents in three games should serve notice to Temple and other future foes that the possibility of their having quite a rough afternoon is very, very bright.

This column and predictions mix about as well as oil and water. If there was any one around who took a worse beating when those heartless Yankees got through thumping the Red Birds—send him around and we'll go on a delightful binge. Then there was the brutal fashion in which Navy treated Penn last Saturday. That one didn't hurt the pocketbook but sure as heck deflated the ego. All this leads up to a grand safe climax. After comparing extensive notes, it looks like Notre Dame is not only the best team in the country, but could spot any club 4 touchdowns and still be in no danger of losing. Any one who doesn't think so and would like to wager a little—see Henry Morgen-thau.

Random Ramblings . . .

Jeanne Mathieu and Ann McDaniel, with 14 goals between them to date, have scored in 3 games what some college teams might not equal in a whole season . . . Watch out, Temple . . . and just for variety, Brightie takes time out from right halfback to notch a tally . . . or maybe you'd rather see Tinker dodge around some fullback, or Ann Harting scoop up a ball . . . they are all good to watch.

TEMPLE VICTORY HIGHLIGHTS
1943 URSINUS GRID SEASON

Opening the season away from home with only two weeks' practice, Ursinus dropped a 12-0 game to Swarthmore. The offense was ragged and clearly showed the little practice. Two weeks later F. & M. applied a 21-0 pasting on the Bears, but the only real difference in the clubs was Rehor's magnificent passing for the visitors.

Against Willow Grove the Bears showed marked improvement and completely outplayed the Hellcats only to drop a tough one- 6-0. The next Friday night—a night long to be remembered in Ursinus athletics—our underdog eleven out-fought and out-gamed the superior

Stevens Departs To Enter Service
Coach Goes to Battle Nazis
After Nine Years at Ursinus

After nine years, Ursinus bids fond farewell to Pete Stevens, varsity football coach, who is obeying the urgent call of his country. Yes, Pete has been drafted, and last Saturday he entrained for the New Cumberland Induction center.

You all know "Peter of the Bald Pate," whose struggle to keep intercollegiate sports going here at Ursinus during this trying period was inexhaustive. His bellowed commands and cheerful countenance will not soon be forgotten.

Pete came to Ursinus in 1935 fresh from a great grid career at Temple University, where as a freshman he played tackle, moved to fullback his sophomore and junior years, and as a senior led the Temple team as captain and center to the Sugar Bowl. His excellent ability and inspiring leadership was soon realized at Ursinus, for, first under Jack McAvoy and then under Don Kellett, Pete developed great lines and some standout individual performers.

Made Head Coach

When in 1940 Kellett received an offer to coach freshman football at Penn, foreseeing a bigger and better future, he accepted and the head coaching reins were turned over to Pete.

In the fall of 1941, the Bears went out hungrily, and although they did not win any games, they tied three and almost managed to pull two others out of the fire. Through it all the spirit of the team was marvelous and they played over their heads many times.

Then the war began drawing Ursinus manpower. When the 1942 season was discussed, all indications pointed to Ursinus dropping intercollegiate sports for the duration. Here Pete endeared himself to all Bear followers by arguing loud and long in favor of at least football and was rewarded with both football and basketball.

Pete began practice as soon as the summer session ended and gathered together a four game schedule. Going to work with a vengeance, Pete whipped the team into shape in a few weeks and in the first game the Bears tied Franklin and Marshall, 0-0. This was indeed a moral victory and Ursinus rooters were not at all disheartened when a powerful Muhlenberg team defeated us the following week. Their support was well founded as proven, when, two weeks later the Bears rose in all their fury, to claw Drexel, our traditional rival, 19-13. The season ended the following Saturday on a cold, wind-swept Patterson field with Ursinus losing to Gettysburg 12-0. The victory over Drexel came after six long years of defeats and all Ursinus took time to congratulate Pete and his boys, to whom he always gave the credit for something worthwhile.

Tries Basketball

Pete immediately started on an intramural basketball tournament from which he chose the ten best players to form his varsity squad. Although it was his first attempt at coaching basketball, Pete soon proved he could teach the intricacies of the game. Scheduling seven games, Pete really had his work cut out. But despite all handicaps the team managed to win three games while losing four.

With the advent of the Navy, Ursinus sports took a new lease on life. Pete and three assistants from the Navy V-12 Unit combined their talents to mould a fine aggregation. With only limited practice it took the club a while to get going but in the end this 1943 eleven was found to have risen to the greatest heights ever achieved by a Stevens' team in his brief career as head coach; this by virtue of a stirring 10-6 upset of Temple, Pete's alma mater.

Now we return to the present, and as Pete leaves, wish to join all Ursinus in wishing him luck.

squad of Temple 10-6.

Something must be said in conclusion about the team. Not for years has there been such spirit as the Navy V-12'ers injected into a team which they could only temporarily call their own. Hats off to a really fine Ursinus squad which did its best whether winning or losing.

GIRLS WHITEWASH ALUMNAE, CHESTNUT HILL IN HOCKEY
ALUMNAE GAME

Despite the downpour of rain all through the first half of the hockey game Saturday, October 30, the Ursinus varsity defeated the Alumnae, 3-0. All three goals were scored by Jeanne Mathieu and came as a result of rushing the goal and beautiful passing.

There were only six ex-Ursinus co-eds present for the great battle, but with the help of some sophomores and freshmen they made the game tough. "Nat" Hogeland and "Squeaky" von Kleek kept the varsity defensive players on their toes with sudden bursts of speed and the display of excellent stick work.

CHESTNUT HILL GAME

A decided victory opened the official Ursinus college varsity hockey season last Wednesday, when the Ursinus eleven swamped Chestnut Hill, 12-0.

High scorer of the game was Ann McDaniel, with 5 goals to her credit. "Danny" played exceptionally good hockey throughout the game. Jeanne Mathieu, the second all-college center forward of 1942, and captain of this year's team, led her forwards in push after push toward the goal, totaling 3 points herself.

Line Plays As Unit

The Ursinus forward line was a joy to watch, for they played as one person, and moved down the field as a fast and accurate unit.

Field Slippery

Despite a soggy, slippery field, both teams managed to keep on their feet most of the time. Little "Mid" Halbruegge, the Ursinus left halfback, played her usual brand of good, straight hockey. Judy Ludwick at right wing carried the ball down the field with great speed to set up several scoring plays.

Marion Bright, star right half-back, outwitted her opponents with spectacular stickwork and added another point to the already mounting score.

Reserves Also Win

With the Ursinus freshman team playing the first half and the Jay Vee eleven playing the last half, Chestnut Hill's second team was defeated last Wednesday afternoon by a 5-1 score. The frosh played a smooth, open game and totaled 4 out of the 5 points gained.

BAKERMEN JOLT HAVERFORD IN SOCCER CURTAIN RAISER

Ursinus' soccer team opened their season on October 23 away from home with a thrilling 2-1 victory over Haverford college, marking their first victory in 12 years of competition with the Main Liners.

Haverford dominated the early play. Domincorick scored in the first quarter and another of the home club's goals was nullified by an off-side, so Haverford nursed a slender 1-0 lead at the half. Doc Baker's men came surging back in the final period to make a nip and tuck battle of the game. Early in the fourth quarter Ted Marchesie found an opening and drove the ball for the first Ursinus tally. Then Dick Fink, civilian freshman, scored the winning goal after a short dribble to give Ursinus the ball game.

Outstanding performances were turned in by every member of the squad. "Buzz" Garey played a bang-up game at goal, and Fink, Gene Massey, and Archie Simons shone on the field.

Penn will be the next foe. The Red and Blue will entertain the Bears on November 13 at River field. A game is also being arranged with the Haverford Army unit, whose members are forbidden to play on the college team.

Jeanne Mathieu Scores Goals
As Girls Register 3-0 Triumph

The Ursinus coeds continued on their merry way to victory by downing Bryn Mawr 3-0 last Saturday. All the girls played a hard open game from the start until the final whistle. The teamwork that has always characterized the play of the Ursinus lassies was displayed to its best advantage.

Jeanne Mathieu, veteran center-forward, went on a scoring spree and came through with all three goals. The first two tallies came in the first half by quick follow-up shots.

In the second half Tinker Harmer dribbled and dodged her way down the field as far as the striking circle where she sent a beautiful pass over to Jeanne Mathieu who scored once again. It was a thrill to watch Jeanne take Tink's pass, look directly at the goalie, and flick the ball into the corner of the cage.

Betty Kirlin was saved a great deal of worry by the nice clearing of Betty Bradway and Janet Shoemaker. In spite of the many opportunities Bryn Mawr had for scoring on corners, they were unable to penetrate the defense of Ursinus.

JAYVEES LOSE

Last Saturday the Ursinus Jay Vee eleven took their first spill before a better Bryn Mawr team, 2-1.

The Ursinus girls lacked teamwork so necessary for a winning team and most of the game was played on the defensive. In the first period, Bryn Mawr scored her two markers and were a constant threat to the Ursinus goal. Saving many a tally was Jane Kircher, who played an outstanding game for Ursinus at left fullback.

In the second half, freshmen Ginny Dulin, D. J. Hobensack, Danny Danenhower, and Gracie Nesbit substituted for the Bears, but although there was a pick-up, with senior Pughe Brooks scoring for Ursinus, it was too late for the lassies to get that old fighting spirit back again. D. J. at center half, made the best Jay Vee showing of the game.

Bryn Mawr played good hockey and well deserved their victory.

COEDS ENTERTAIN FRESHMEN
WITH CAMPUS FASHION TOGS

The Junior Advisory committee sponsored a fashion show for girls of the freshman class on Thursday, October 28, at 3:30 p. m. in Bomberger. The committee endeavored to answer those perplexing problems of freshman on what to wear and when to wear it.

The program included the modeling of back-to-campus styles, clothes and accessories for classes, football games, dates, dances, teas, dorm parties, Christmas celebrations, rainy days, and sports. Emma Kay Hartman '44, chairman, described each costume and occasion as the girls appeared.

Models were Norma Nebinger '44, Lois Ann Fairlie '44, Peggy McKinney '44, Judy Weller '46, Emma Jane Thomas '44, Betty Orr '46, Ann McDaniel '44, Courtenay Richardson '46, Nancy Bomberger '46, Marion Bright '44, Jeanne Beers '45, Evelyn DeVore '44, Leona Miller '44, Judy Ludwick '44, and Mildred Halbruegge '44.

Dorothy Waltz '44, and Ann McDaniel designed the attractive invitations for the freshman.

Freshmen Get Acquainted, Dance
To Recordings at Reception

With recordings furnishing the melodies for dancing, the annual Freshman Reception last Thursday night in the Thompson-Gay gymnasium attracted a crowd of 250 students for the first social affair of the year.

Although the male attendants were greatly out-numbered, a "Paul Jones" divided them among the girls for the first dances. A feature for the evening was the game in which everyone looked for the ten persons who had been designated as black sheep. Prizes were given to the boys and girls who gave the names of the most sheep whom they had found.

The many colored penants hung on the walls of the room gave it a true collegiate spirit. Sponsored by the Student council and YWCA, all arrangements for the reception were under the general direction of James Marshall '44.

ENGLISH CLUB TO REVIEW
WAR AVIATOR'S BOOK

Meeting at the home of Dr. Norman E. McClure on Monday evening, November 15, the English club will inaugurate its new season with a review by Emma Jane Thomas '44, of Joseph P. Marquand's book, So Little Time.

So Little Time is a brilliant satire about Jeffery Wilson, once an aviator in World War I, who in 1940 tries to protect his family from the horrible World War II, which he realizes is inevitable. Unable, or rather, unwilling to believe in the possibility of war, his family continues their carefree "eat, drink, and be merry" policy forgetting the rest of the saying, "for tomorrow we may die."

COLLEGE TO HOLD SECOND
QUALIFYING TEST NOV. 9

The second Qualifying Test for the Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy College Program V-12 which will be given throughout the country on Tuesday, November 9, will be administered at the Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., Mr. F. I. Sheeder, registrar, announced today.

A pamphlet of general information which contains an admission-identification form may be obtained upon application to Mr. Sheeder. This form properly filled out will admit to the test students between the ages of 17 and 21 inclusive who are recent high school graduates or who will be graduated by March 1, 1944. Intent to take the test should be made known immediately to the Office of the Registrar, Ursinus College, in order that the necessary test supplies may be ordered.

CURTAIN CLUB PLAY

Ushers will be Elizabeth Jane Cassatt, Christine Franzen, Mary Jean Moore, Gertrude Mazen, and Arline Schlessler.

WSGA Communique

Activities of the Women's Student Government will be made public each week through this column.

Highlights from the first WSGA meeting of the year, November 2: Two dorms will have their reception rooms refurnished each year as a women's dorm committee project.

Soph rules has planned a program of guidance and orientation as well as initiation.

Late privileges will be the same as last year but may be taken only on Saturday nights, except by special permission. Sale of stamps and bonds in the Supply Store after lunch and dinner has been resumed.

The pageantry room has been moved from Pfahler hall to West Music studio.

All cases tried before the council will be posted on the WSGA bulletin board. The report will include the case history, results of the hearing, and penalty.

TRAPPE CHURCH TO CELEBRATE
BI-CENTENNIAL ON SUNDAY

The bi-centennial anniversary of the founding of St. Luke's Reformed church, Trappe, will be celebrated by the congregation and friends at two services on Sunday, November 14. The first service will be held at 10:30 a. m. with a special service at 2:30 p. m.

The Rev. A. C. Thompson, D.D., of Tamaque, will preach the anniversary sermon in the morning. Several ministers and laymen will participate in the afternoon service. Among them will be the Rev. C. D. Rockel, D.D., President of the Philadelphia Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed church; Dr. Norman E. McClure, President of Ursinus College; Rev. John Lentz, College pastor; Rev. Philip Weiss, Limerick; Dr. Jessie Royer Greaves; Dr. Ralph Spangler; and Rev. W. O. Fegely, Trappe.

Special music for the services will be furnished by St. Luke's choir with the St. James' Church choir of Limerick assisting in the afternoon. Neighboring churches have been invited to participate at the services.

Who's Who

He was elected this year to the Presidency of the Ursinus College Alumni association.

The Board of Directors of the College accepted the resignation with regret and appointed Horace E. Godshall as his successor.

Johnson has no plans for the immediate future. He will rest awhile before taking up new duties.

JIM MARSHALL IS SPEAKER
AT FIRST VESPER SERVICE

The Joint Y committee sponsored its first vesper service of the winter term on Sunday, October 31, in the College chapel at 6:15 p. m. with Julia Ludwick '44, YWCA president in charge.

James Marshall '44, president of the YMCA spoke on, "He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for My sake shall find it." He illustrated his topic by making reference to the story of Esther, in which she endangered her own life to defend her people.
